One Week Left to Vote for Indiana's New License Plate Design

Hoosiers can go to myBMV.com to vote Through Sept.5

INDIANAPOLIS—Indiana Bureau of Motor Vehicles (BMV) Commissioner Kent Abernathy reminded state residents today that only one week remains to help choose a new license plate to replace the outgoing Bicentennial plate. Three plate designs were unveiled earlier this month at the Indiana State Fair.

"We are pleased with how many Hoosiers have voted to let us know which plate they like," said Abernathy. "It only takes a moment to vote for the design at myBMV.com," he added. "Online voting for the plate ends at midnight on Labor Day, September 5."

Three designs for the public vote are; a blue, red and green plate depicting a covered bridge (link to image) over a creek; a white, blue and yellow choice with a torch and stars over the silhouette of Indiana and the slogan "The Hoosier State" and a plate with a white background, blue numbers and a yellow, bottom ribbon with the slogan, "Crossroads of America."

Fort Wayne, Indiana's Intellectual Technology Inc., a firm that designs and manufactures license plates for states all over the country, did the artwork

The winning design will replace the Bicentennial plate as one of two standard, no extra cost license plates. The other standard "In God We Trust" plate design will continue unchanged.
